

Design Technology

with Miss Dangerfield

I love learning about how things work, and I also enjoy being creative. Since I have been teaching, I have found I have a passion for teaching the children in creative ways and I enjoy seeing all of the children using their own ideas to create and make a finished product.

I also find DT is a great way for all children to express themselves in different ways and I also enjoy its cross curricular links with Maths and Science.

Also, since having my own children I have taken more of an interest in baking and cooking: I enjoy letting my children cook with me and exploring different ways to make their favourite foods in a healthy way.
